

CELEBRATE National Indigenous Peoples Day on June 21st

New Brunswickers are invited to share in the celebration and recognition of the history, resilience and leadership of Indigenous peoples across Canada, and throughout our province.

National Indigenous Peoples Day celebrates all Indigenous peoples whose traditions, values and identity are embedded in our province's history and success.

As our province continues to move reconciliation forward, New Brunswickers are urged to do their part in building a stronger province for all people by increasing their understanding of Indigenous identity and history.
